I would like to have one of the two large burners in the back and I don't like the way the very small simmer burner on the upper left fits on the stove. But over all a wonderful range. Really heats water up fast, I am looking forward to canning on it this summer. Bet it take far less time than my old range.

I bought this slide in gas range to replace a previous KitchenAide model that I was sorry to part with. There is a lot to love about this model. The 5 burners allow extra preparation for large family meals, the oven is much larger and heats quickly as well as cooking evenly. The stove top is easier to clean and love that I can put all components in the dishwasher.

However:

The range seems chintzier than my previous model - more rattles and the storage drawer is flimsy. The self clean cycle seems pretty ineffective - I have run it a couple of times but figure I will just have to scrub the bottom of the oven where a few overflows are baking into the tray. I really miss a feature of my last range - it displayed the time an oven cycle started. Funny how you don't realize how much you rely on a feature until it's gone.

Also: I was pretty dismayed at the gap between my new range and the bench cut out, but after contacting Whirlpool I was sent the appropriate trim pieces free of charge despite the "warranty" period being expired. They seem to be holding up well and the fit is good.

Looks great but can't figure out how to make the timer louder even though I followed the instructions. Nevertheless, glad I bought it.

We had choice of appliances in new community. So glad I chose Whirlpool and specifically this GAS stove. I've had both gas and electric and this stove is so easy to cook with, controls are logical and looks great!

POOR oven cleaning feature

By Disappointed NM

Homeowner

From Grenville, NM

I built a new house and a different Whirlpool stove was installed, however, the convection bake control did not work. I told the contractor I would be OK with just replacing the control panel. Whirlpool chose not to do that and replaced it with this stove. I didn't realize that it was not a self cleaning oven. The AquaLift system doesn't touch the splatters or spills that happen in everyday oven use. I thought the day of a woman having to scour her oven clean went out years ago, but Whirlpool brought it back with this model!!!!Extremely disappointed! Would have done without convection bake if I had known this is what they were going to replace it with.

Merchant response: Disappointed NM Homeowner:

Thank you for taking the time to write regarding your Aqualift product. Feedback from our customers is an important source of information. We regret that you are not totally satisfied with your ovens. We manufacture several different models with various feature and accessory designs while trying to provide appliances that are versatile in meeting the needs of our customers and adhering to increasing governmental restrictions on energy use. The Aqualift ranges were meant to work with less heat than the self cleaning models causing less smoke to be made during the cleaning. These ranges will not work as self clean as a previous range, and scrubbing with the cleaning kit will be necessary for staining, splattering, and pan spillovers. We are truly sorry you are unhappy with the design of the range and you were not aware of this feature before purchase. Rest assured your comments will be provided to our design teams for future model consideration.
